

CAMBRIDGE
SUSTAINABILITY
RESIDENCY

2016
18th- 30th July

About the Residency

The Residency is organised by artists and it is supported by the Cambridge School of Art.

The Residency envisages the fostering of cross-disciplinary dialogue and hopes to bring socially engaged works to local and international audiences. It is set to be a space where conditions are created for discussion, innovation and the exploration of new knowledges necessary to face the new challenges, particularly those created by human activity.

Residency in Cambridge

The selected artists will arrive between Saturday 16th and Sunday 17th July. Activities will start on Monday 18th. The first week is generally for input and discussions, whereas the second week of the Residency is mainly dedicated to hands on action.

What we offer

Studio space at the Cambridge School of Art
Wi-fi access
Access to 3D, printing, photography and other workshop facilities
Participation in the Exhibition in the Ruskin Gallery
Visits to the Sainsbury Lab, Botanic Gardens, tours of the city, etc
Group crits and one-to-one tutorial time
Talks and films
Accommodation for those artists who need it

The selected artists will be responsible for their own transport as well as food and extras. The artists will be responsible for materials and will contribute to the final show with both work and assistance.

Residency off-site

In order to reduce the carbon foot print of travelling we welcome entrances from artists based overseas who would like to participate in the Residency dialogue from where they are based.

What we offer

Online group crits and one-to-one tutorial time
Virtual platform
Participation in the Exhibition in the Ruskin Gallery
Online access to talks

The selected artists will be responsible for online connections to discussions, group crits, etc. and to make themselves available for activities programmed on UK time (GMT). The selected artists will be responsible for their own local research and will contribute to the final show with a piece/s of work or documentation of the research process. These will be facilitated to the organisers in digital form.
